Bet on Hope: Lessons from the Patient Who Developed His Own Surgery

Tuesday, July 11, 2017
7:30 a.m. – 9:00 a.m.

Presenter:

Douglas Lindsay

Viewing innovation through the lens of disruption leaves companies and employees feeling fearful, feeling like victims of change. Learn how to view innovation through the lens of hope and learn the skills it takes to make unlikely things happen.

Doug Lindsay got sick at 21 and spent the next 11 years homebound, bed bound 22 hours a day... until he developed an innovative surgery to treat his own condition. He built the medical team to do the surgery, and then bet his life on the operating table. Hear his story and what he learned about trust, teams, innovation, leadership, and hope as he worked tirelessly for over a decade to become a medical miracle.
